Virgie Sanders dies at 100 years

Virgie Sanders, one of Gallatin County's most beloved citizens, died last Sunday, March 25th, at Carroll County Memorial Hospital. She was 100 years old and lived for many years on High Street in Warsaw.

Mrs. Sanders was well known for her long career as the "Warsaw Society" columnist for the Gallatin County News. She retired from that position just last year after several decades of writing. She was also the deputy circuit court clerk in Gallatin County for 20 years before retiring in 1982.

She was also an avid gardener known for her delicious vegetables and beautiful flowers

After growing up in Owen County, Mrs. Sanders moved to Gallatin in 1931 with her late husband, L.G. Sanders. They had two sons, the late William Carroll Sanders, and Sam Sanders of Glencoe. They also had seven grandchildren, 12 great grandchildren and ten great-great grandchildren.

Other survivors include her brother, Sam Adams of Carrollton, and daughter-in-law DeEtta Sanders of Covington. Mrs. Sanders was preceded in death by her husband and son, great granddaughter Cassandra Beach and great-great granddaughter Angel Beach.

One of the highlights for the Sanders family was celebrating Virgie's 100th birthday last June at the Extension Office. More than 200 friends and family members attended the party, coming from all parts of the country.

A longtime member of the Warsaw Baptist Church, Mrs. Sanders was also very active in the Napoleon Homemakers Club and other civic societies.

Visitation will be Sunday, April 1, from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. at the Garnett-New-McDonald Funeral Home in Warsaw. Funeral services will begin at 2 p.m., Monday, April 2nd, at the funeral home. An

School Board needs Glencoe member

Gallatin County's Board of Education is in need of a good man or woman due to the recent resignation of board member Anita McFarland who represented the Glencoe district.

Anyone living in the Glencoe district (District 3) and who is interested in being appointed to the board may pick up an application at the Wallace Central Board Office in Warsaw or download one from the school's website: gallatin.kyschools.us. Applications must be postmarked by April 9, 2012. See page 8 for a public notice concerning the va-online guest register is available at www.mcdonaldandnew.com.

cancy on the board.

The Kentucky Commissioner of Education will appoint the person to fill out McFarland's term with guidance from the Board. That person will serve until Jan. 2013, because the seat is up for election this November.

"Mrs. McFarland served our students, teachers and community faithfully from 1997 to 2012," said Superintendent of Schools Dot Perkins. "During that time she was instrumental in decisions regarding budgets, efficient use of taxpayer money, and ensuring my grocer, Ken Herndon and my pharmacist, Bill Beverly, banned me from their stores. Not only that, our UPS driver, Mac Ernst, refused to deliver packages addressed to the newspaper. I also received a bunch of hate mail including a letter from a woman in Lexington who said she was going to shoot me, run over me and then shoot me again.

Until 1983, I thought Kentucky basketball fans were like most other sports fans who celebrate when their team wins and cry in their beer for a few hours when they lose. I had no idea that to their fans, Kentucky basketball is more important than life itself.

There's no question Saturday's Final Four game between Kentucky and Louisville will be a grudge match of epic proportions and the most important sporting event the state has ever seen.

Both teams have fervent fans who don't care for their neighbors a bit. That venom runs especially deep for Kentucky fans because their former coach, Rick Pitino, now coaches Louisville. He took the Wildcats to three Final Fours and won the national championship in 1996. He then abandoned the team and wound up taking a job at the school's most hated rival.

Kentucky beat Louisville 69 to 62 last News Year's Eve and has looked like the best team in the country all year. This time I'm going to predict the Wildcats will beat the Cardinals this Saturday night. I'm not saying that just because I want to be able to shop at my local grocery store and pharmacy and receive packages from UPS. I also want Betty Shinkle to be able to continue to breathe easily.

Speedway's plan should ensure a smooth race day

KY 35 reopens 12 days early

KY 35 was reopened at the Kentucky Speedway last Wednesday, March 21, after 75 days of construction work. That same day officials gathered at the racetrack to say last year's massive traffic jam the day of the NASCAR Spring Cup race won't be repeated.

Rt. 35 had been closed since Jan. 18 to allow crews to install a pedestrian tunnel underneath the highway. That tunnel will allow race fans to access the track from the speedway's new parking areas.

At last week's press conference a computerized model was used to simulate traffic flow the day of the Quaker State 400 on June 30. The model reflected the speedway's newly expanded parking areas as well as widening the nearby exit ramp off I-71 and of KY 35. The model showed the longest delay on the Interstate this year would be 14 minutes. Last year, thousands of race fans were stuck in traffic jams on the Interstate and could not get to the track to see the race.

The track's owner, Bruton Smith, attended the meeting and said he's convinced the track has fixed the access problems that marred the inaugural running of the Quaker State 400 last year.

The Speedway will work with the Kentucky State Police, Kentucky Transportation Cabinet and its parking company to finalize plans for this year's race.

"The important thing for us is to have a plan that everybody feels good about and that we can execute," said Kentucky Speedway general manager Mark Simendinger. Simendinger said work began to fix the speedway's problems almost immediately after last year's race ended.

Last August, the speedway and state committed to spending $11 million to improve parking and roads around the track.

"In retrospect, we needed more lanes, we needed more parking spaces, we needed more people, we needed more everything," said Simendinger.

The state is spending $3.7 million to widen the off-ramp from southbound I-71 to KY 35 and to widen KY 35 to five lanes with two full shoulders that can be used as traffic lanes on race day.

County will host Clean Up Days

You can get help with your spring-cleaning during the annual Gallatin County Clean Up Days to be held Thursday-Saturday, April 12, 13 and 14.

During that time, residents will be able to use dumpsters located at the Napoleon/Concord precinct, at the old school in Glencoe, at the city park in Sparta and on Third St. in Warsaw next to the Health Department. The dumpsters will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. No tires or propane cylinders will be accepted.

Anyone who needs help disposing of their unwanted debris or items should call 567-5691 or 743-1171 for assistance.

This and That

By Kelley Warnick

I won't make the same mistake I made back in 1983 because I know more now than I did back then. That's the year Kentucky and the University of Louisville met in the NCAA Tournament for the first time in 53 years.

Although I've always been a college basketball fan, in 1983 I had only lived in Kentucky a few years and didn't grasp the fever that consumes so many college basketball fans in this state. I didn't know some people, like my good friend Betty Shinkle, develop breathing problems while watching Kentucky play basketball at tournament time and see their team fall behind.

I didn't quite understand the state's passion for college hoops because I grew up in Virginia and went to the University of Virginia. My alma mater lost far more games than it won when I was there while Kentucky has won more games than any other school in the country.

When Kentucky and Louisville met in 1983 in the Elite 8 round of the NCAA Tournament, the two schools didn't play as regularly as they do now. Before the big game that year, I said in the newspaper that Louisville would win.

I thought my prediction would be a popular one because most of our readers lived closer to Louisville than Lexington. I couldn't have been more wrong and my life changed over night.

As soon as the paper hit the streets,

This year I'm picking Kentucky

Carver's Trail Sewer Project is on schedule

Dear Editor:

Regarding the recent controversy regarding the Carver's Trail sewer project, we signed off on the project March 19 and we started digging that day.

To date, 14 sewer taps have been completed by Lewis Contracting on behalf of the City of Warsaw.

Grinder pumps have been or will be installed by a contractor of the homeowner's choosing and at their expense.

The tap on fee will be $1,000 per household. Carver's Trail residents will get this paid for through grant funds.

There seems to be some misconception that this council and administration raised the fee recently for this area. The sewer tap fee was raised in September, 2011, from $400 to $1,000 only for within the city limits of Warsaw. The goal was to make the tap-on fees uniform in all areas.

The fee of $1,000 for anyone connecting to the main line down U.S. 42 West was established in 2006 by ordinance 2006-10 as part of an agreement with Smugler's Cove Marina.

All residents were required to not turn on the grinder pumps until all households were hooked on.

Sincerely,
C.E. French
Mayor of Warsaw

Many good things are happening in Glencoe

Dear Editor:

I write this letter to show my appreciation to my city of Glencoe. I am so happy with how things are going in this town currently.

We had moved out of Glencoe and Gallatin County about three years ago for family reasons and just moved back a little over a month ago.

We missed Glencoe a great deal because of the great neighbors and friends we made here. When we moved back into our home this year, we noticed changes had started to happen.

In the six-and-a-half years we owned property before in Glencoe, not once did we see anything get done.

Everything was getting dilapidated. The park was never finished, and we kept asking the question of "Where is our tax money going?"

Once we moved back, I was so glad to see the changes that had finally been made to the city.

Potholes were getting filled on the streets. The alley behind the post office was fixed. Street signs were being put up.

The park is now finally in the process of being completed, which is great for the families here. I can honestly say I can now see the taxes we've been paying going into action.

Being a tax-paying citizen, I always want to see where my money is going and finally I can see it going back into the community.

I thank the city council and the mayor for doing such a great job. I am proud to live in Glencoe. With the continuing improvements, our town is turning into a wonderful place to live.

Sincerely,
Gregory Pickett
Glencoe.

Kentucky Commentary

The good, bad, and ugly before the legislature

As the 2012 General Assembly starts its final week, it's a bit early to pass final judgment on a session that has been largely unproductive, but it's not too early to wonder and warn about some of the biggest bills a legislature can pass: constitutional amendments.

The legislature is loath to do big things, unless there is a rare convergence of interests, and all too often, that is a mix of legislators' self-interest and lobbying interests rather than the public interest. And sometimes, self-interest is all that's required to put something on the ballot.

We'll get to that point, but first things first: The debate over the failed amendment for casinos obscured the fact that the legislature last year put an amendment on the ballot for this year. That measure would enshrine in the constitution the "right to hunt, fish and harvest wildlife, using traditional methods."

There is no credible threat to such rights, so the proposal may be an extension of the misplaced fear that national Democrats are out to get our guns. The amendment will increase turnout among voters who are inclined to vote Republican, so don't expect the Democratic-controlled House to go along with a Senate-passed measure that would do likewise, only more so.

That one says no "human authority" may "burden a person's or religious organization's right to act or refuse to act in a manner motivated by a sincerely held religious belief, except in support of a compelling governmental interest, using the least restrictive means to further that interest.

Democrats immediately saw the bill as a way to turn out religious conservatives, most recently riled by the controversy over a new federal mandate for contraceptive coverage, but the bill's sponsor, Sen. Jimmy Higdon, R-Lebanon, said he was prompted by Bell County school officials' decision to stop prayers before football games for fear of lawsuit.

A big, bipartisan House majority passed an amendment that would automatically restore voting rights to most felons (except in cases of "treason, intentional killing, a sex crime, or bribery") who have served their time rather than forcing them to apply to the governor for restoration of rights.

Another amendment would ban paying legislators in any special session called to pass a state budget when they have failed to do so in a regular session - which has happened more than once since Republicans took over the Senate.

The amendment most likely to pass is the one that is most self-serving. It would make it easier for legislators to redraw their districts by relaxing the county-splitting rule. Sen. Gerald Neal, D-Louisville, filed floor amendments to the bill to put a bipartisan commission in charge, but his amendments were ruled out of order. Let's hope a bipartisan combine in the House can refile those changes and get a vote on them.

The lawmakers should consider this: If they put on the ballot a purely self-serving amendment to a process that is already too self-serving, voters would have every reason to reject it. That would lead to another set of geographically and politically objectionable plans and maybe more court action, so the legislature should act in the larger public interest and adopt Neal's amendments. Since they wouldn't take full effect for a decade, many current legislators will have retired by then. Can they look 10 years ahead? They should.

Speedway

KY 35 reopened last Wednesday, 12 days ahead of schedule after work on the 42-foot-wide pedestrian tunnel was completed. Because of good weather, all other construction work around the track is also ahead of schedule.

In addition to work on the highways, the speedway purchased an additional 171 acres for parking and cleared an additional 55 acres of its own land for parking. It expects to be able to accommodate about 18,700 more cars this year than it could last year. There will also be more parking attendants hired this year.

Speedway officials think fans will allow for more time to get to the track this year because of last year's difficulties. Simendinger said fans should have "clear sailing" into the track and "no line" at any time on race day.

Tickets remain available for the June 30 race and Simendinger said he expects this year's crowd to be over 100,000.

"We'll be ready for 140,000 to 150,000 people," Smith said. "We have developed a motto: Problems are the sign of progress, so that means we've got a lot of progress coming."

ing that students receive the highest possible quality of learning from innovative teachers. Among the many qualities a board member must have is an unwavering commitment to our students and teachers."

Perkins said there has never been a more important time to serve on the board of education because of the state's new academic standards for all schools and because of the emphasis of ensuring every student is college or career ready upon graduation.

Adult education classes are offered at the Gallatin County Schools campus at 33 Boardwalk, where anyone over the age of 16 and not currently enrolled in school can study college prep classes, earn a GED or work on English as a second language. Hours are Mondays 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. and 4 p.m. to 6 p.m., Tuesdays 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. and 4 p.m. to 7 p.m., Wednesdays, 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. and 4 p.m. to 6 p.m. and Thursdays 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Registration is on Mondays. The center is now offering workplace training to earn National Career Readiness Certification. Call 567-6046 for information.

The Dolly Parton Imagination Library Program is open to all children, ages birth through five years old. The program was established to encourage literacy in the home and recognize the importance of reading to children at an early age by providing children with a free book every month until their fifth birthday. Enrollment is required. Forms for enrollment can be obtained at the Family Resource Center, room 116, Gallatin County Upper Elementary School. Call Conte Flowers at 859-567-4900 or Matt at 859-567-4660.

Gallatin County High School and Gallatin County Middle School will be participating in this year's Straight-A Program with the Cincinnati Reds. Students in grades 7-12 who maintain an A or A- average will be given an order form redeemable for tickets.

Each Straight-A student will be able to select two free View Level tickets for one of the designated dates on the Straight-A order form. Half price tickets are available for additional family and friends.

People... in The News

These happy elementary school students were celebrating because of their success in a label collecting challenge, called Labels for Education. They collected enough labels to earn more than 11,000 points which were redeemed for playground and physical fitness equipment. They are (left to right): Jada Towels, Parker Keyes, Dominic Cayton and Miranda Arnold.

The Family Resource Center has a lending library which contains some excellent parenting books. Parents are welcome to browse through the collection of books and check out any books of interest.

The Family Resource Center and the students it serves are in need of gently used gym shoes and socks of all sizes. Please bring donations to the Center located in room 116 of the upper elementary school.

The Kentucky Virtual Library is available to students and parents through the Gallatin County School System.

This is one web site that can be trusted to be completely accurate and educational. The site contains a wealth of information that can be found in encyclopedias and articles from magazines and books. To access, username: gallatin01; password: gannet84.

Gallatin County Lower Elementary School is collecting Labels for Education®, Box Tops for Education®, Campbell's Soup labels, CapriSun, Kool-Aid and other "like" pouches, and I.G.A. labels (Our Family brand labels). These collections support schools across the country by exchanging labels and box tops for cash and free merchandise.

For a complete list of eligible products, visit labelsforeducation.com or carefully examine purchases for the Labels for Education stamp or the Box Tops for Education stamp. Labels and box tops may be dropped off at the school or sent with students and teachers to be turned in every Thursday. The lower elementary school is also accepting cell phones and printer cartridges for recycling. Call Melissa Keyes at 567-6340 for further information.

Gallatin County Upper Elementary School and Gallatin County Middle School are also participating in the above fund-raising effort.

Friends and family of students can now raise money for the schools through purchases they make at a variety of stores listed with SchoolStore.com. The web site is an online shopping mall with over 200 merchants including Sears, Target, Office Depot, Wal-Mart, Disney Store, and Family Book Store. The schools earn money with each purchase. To participate, enter the school's ID#341998 at SchoolStore.com and start earning money for education.

Students who e-mail invitations to join the fund-raising effort will receive prizes for sending at least three e-mail invitations. E-mail addresses will not be shared or used for any other purpose than participation in this program.

Gallatin County Alumni can now register on the schools' web site, gallatin.kyschools.us, to stay in touch with each other, post pictures, reunion events, or plan class reunions.

Gallatin County High School students who achieve perfect attendance for the 2011/12 school year will once again have a chance to win a laptop with the Microsoft office student package installed. First Farmers Bank will donate the laptop and one lucky student's name will be drawn from a pool comprised of those students who attended every day of school during the 2011/12 school year.

Here's what's been happening around the county: Mary Jane Day took part in the mini walk/run in Cincinnati last week with family members. The walk is sponsored in memory of those who have succumbed to heart disease. Mary Jane reports that participation was excellent, with thousands of people involved.

The monthly Book Club was held at the library last Wednesday, with the group discussing 'The Act of Fielding,' by Chad Harbach. Those in attendance were Mary Jo Mylor, Betty Wright, Jackie Neal, Helen Walker, Barbara Finfrock, Lonni Faller, John Bennet, Marie Allison, Bonnie McGee, and new member Janet McGaha. Next month's selection is 'The Help,' by Kathryn Stockett. This book has become a best-seller and is currently a hit movie.

Rick Kimberlin had a wonderful early birthday celebration last week. His nieces, Bonnie Smiddy and Esther Morgan of Lebanon, Ohio; Eva Durham of North Carolina, Stephanie Powers of Germantown, Ohio, and Cleo and Brian Sublett of Warsaw surprised him at his home with dinner as well as cake and ice cream. They all had a great time and enjoyed being together. HAPPY BIRTHDAY, RICK!

Shirley Chipman had a busy and joyful weekend. Her Friday night supper guest was Mae Wallace. On Saturday, Shirley and Aileen Chipman enjoyed lunch at the Dairy Queen, and Saturday evening she, Lanette Morrison, and Mae Wallace had a girls' night out with dinner at Logan's Steak House. Shirley's Sunday guests were Mae Wallace, Ruthie Niebergall, Lanette Morrison, and Derina, Savannah, and Autaun Doolin.

Diane Young enjoyed a great visit, Thursday evening, with her dear friend, Lori Auton, having coffee together, laughing, talking, and catching up. On Friday evening, she and husband, Ron, and grandson, Jared went to Covington to the St. Augustine Fish Fry and spent a lovely evening with old friends and some of Ron's family. Diane particularly enjoyed having their son, Ron, grandson, Jared, and a friend of Ron's, Pat Palmer, for the weekend even if they did spend most of their time in the woods. On Sunday, her cousins, Margaret Hutchinson, Trish, and Dailah Pedersen came to visit and enjoy a brunch of biscuits, gravy, and bacon with, of course, more coffee. Lots of laughter and stimulating conversation made the visit even more special, and the ladies truly enjoyed one another's company.

Mary Jane McCarty and her brother, Bill Stewart, drove to Bowling Green on Saturday in order to spend the day with Mary Jane's daughter, Cassie Lambert. The siblings went to help Cassie with some bathroom remodeling, got a lot accomplished, and had great fun as well.

Mary Rae Mattox has certainly had a busy and fun-filled weekend! Three of her very good friends, Samantha Sias, Pam Henderson, and Vicki Ingles came Friday for the weekend. They enjoyed dinner at Jewel's on Main, Friday evening, then rounded out the evening playing cards and catching up with all the news from Ironton, Ohio, where Mary Rae lived for many years. They all slept in Saturday morning, then headed to Florence for some shopping fun. The ladies stopped at Steak & Shake for lunch, then went to Sam's Club to search for bargains. The fun ended all too soon, as the three friends had to go home Saturday evening due to illness in Pam's family. To top off the weekend, Mary Rae's daughter and son-in-law arrived Saturday evening and took her to Belterra for dinner and a bit of fun on the slot machines. Sunday they drove to Lowe's for more shopping! Mary Rae says she feels that she has gained 10 pounds and

Back to Basics Club planning Spring activities

Back to Basics Homemakers met at the extension office in March. Members discussed their volunteer hours and the volunteer appreciation dinner; the annual Community Baby Shower to be held April 19 at 6 p.m.; and the Mother's Day Tea to be held May 12 from 1 to 4 at St. Joseph's Catholic Church.

Speaker for the Mother's Day Tea will be Joy Higgins. FFA, 4-H, and Drama Clubs, as well as the Girl Scouts, will be taking part. Joanna haymond will be the organist for the afternoon. There will be a hat parade and judging. There will also be a silent auction.

On June 2, an ovarian cancer screening will be held at the extension office. There will also be games, food and a silent auction.

For more information, call Betty Roberts at 991-3571 or Charlene Giles at 802-5724, or Rosie at the Gallatin County Extension Office, 567-5481. The club's next meeting will be held April 11 at 6:30 p.m. at the extension office. New members are always welcome.

George and Linda Smith's singing dog, Rusty, got himself in big trouble for staying out night after night without calling home. Poor boy was grounded for several days for his delinquency. When finally he was released, he took off again but was soon home looking dejected. Apparently his new girlfriend dumped him for being gone so long without calling.

Boyd Lionberger and stepson, Keith West, enjoyed a "boys day out" last Wednesday. Boyd is recovering from minor surgery and was going stir crazy from being cooped up at home, so Keith took pity on him and they drove to Dry Ridge allegedly to pick up a lock for Boyd's truck cap. They took care of their errand, shopped at the tractor store, and enjoyed lunch at the Waffle House, but for some reason did not get home till late in the day. Boyd's wife, Betty, isn't sure what else they did and they're not telling.

Doris Combs enjoyed a visit from her newly-married granddaughter and her family last Tuesday. Lisa and Cody Reed spent some quiet time at Doris's house, along with Lisa's children Clayton and Jade Gilbert. They enjoyed walking around the yard to look at some of Doris' flower bulbs and making plans to use the ones Doris will be sharing with them when she begins the thinning-out process.

Emma and Lydia Young of Warsaw spent the weekend in Indianapolis with their grandparents, Steve and Skeeter Braaten. They enjoyed watching the ball games, shopping and playing. On Sunday, they met their mom, Candy, and aunt, Norma Bladen, in Osgood for the trip home. A good time was had by all.

Obituaries

Sue McDarmont Bogardus

Warsaw resident Sue McDarmont Bogardus died Saturday, March 24, 2012. She was 91 years old.

Mrs. Bogardus lived a very full life and was well known for her interest in history, genealogy, and education, as well as gardening and native birds of Kentucky.

She supplied many individuals from all over the country with genealogical information, especially about Gallatin County and Central Kentucky. She was a lifelong member of the Warsaw Christian Church and was an active parishioner for many decades until her health declined.

She was an active member of the Daughters of the American Revolution and enjoyed that association for many decades. She was active in local, county and state politics and had many friends in the State of Kentucky, although she outlived most of them. She was a force of nature and positively affected many lives over her nine plus decades.

For a number of years, she was the owner of the Moon River Night Club and she managed the Butler Lodge in General Butler State Park, Carrollton. She had many diverse jobs over the course of her life. She was very patriotic and worked in an Indiana factory in support of the war effort during World War II. She often joked that every time she tried to retire, she was offered another job.

The great love of her life was her husband, Dr. Carl Bogardus and she was very grateful to her friend, the late Harold Brown Weldon, for introducing them.

She and Dr. Carl were the founders of the Gallatin County Historical Society and they spent many hours together in the River Room of their house, Belle Reviere, overlooking the Ohio River, happily engaged in genealogical research and writing. They gave generously to the church and the Historical Society, as well as to many charities, especially medical, military and veterans charities. They endowed a college scholarship fund for Gallatin County high school students.

One of the special things about Mrs. Bogardus was her loyalty. She cared for a former employee of Moon River for many years until his death after he became disabled. She loved to tell entertaining stories about many topics. When she was in her late eighties, she was able to identify subjects in the photo albums from the 1920s and 1930s. Her love of family, and her stories will be greatly missed.

She is survived by one sister, Churchill (Mickey) Giuliani of Sharonville, Ohio; one stepson, Dr. Carl R. Bogardus, Jr.; one stepdaughter, Rhoda Jane Cornwell; and several nieces and nephews. She was preceded in death by her husband, Dr. Carl R. Bogardus; one step-daughter, Nancy B. West; and six brothers and sisters.

Visitation will be held Saturday, March 31, from 11 a.m. until 1 p.m. at Garnett-New-McDonald Funeral Home in Warsaw. The funeral service will begin immediately following visitation.

Memorials are suggested to the Warsaw Christian Church, The Wounded Warriors Project, 4899 Belfort Road, Suite 300, Jacksonville, FL 32256, or the charity of donor's choice.

Vicky Jo Brown

Oklahoma resident Vicki Jo Brown died Friday, March 16, in Lawton, Oklahoma. She was 54 years old and was a resident of Gallatin County for many years.

Mrs. Brown was born in Louisville and was an avid fan of the Kentucky Wildcats, Dale Earnhardt and NASCAR.

She is survived by her husband, Billy L. Brown, Jr.; two sons, David and Richard Marksberry, both of Warsaw; her mother and stepfather, Bea and Jerry Grigson of Hebron; three brothers, Cliff Marksberry of Verona; Jimmy Marksberry of Burlington; and Dallas Marksberry of Glencoe; one sister, Rhonda Pelfrey of Florida; two step-sisters, Karen Grigson and Lesa Garrett of Erlanger; one step-brother, Jeff Grigson of Hebron; and two grandchildren. She was preceded in death by her father, Clifford Marksberry, and one sister, Linda Pace.

A funeral service was held Tuesday, March 20, at the Becker Funeral Home Memorial Chapel in Lawton, Oklahoma, and on March 22 at Chambers & Grubbs Funeral Home in Walton. Burial was at the Glencoe Cemetery.

Barbara Carol Hale

Sparta resident Barbara Carol Hale died Sunday, March 18, at her home. She was 56 years old.

Mrs. Hale is survived by her husband, David Hale; her mother, Romano Myers; one son, Marshall Hale; two daughters, Michelle Patrick of Glencoe and April Reed of Newport; one brother, Gary Colvin of Falmouth; one grandchild and one great-grandchild.

Services will be held at the convenience of the family.

Linda Lou Caldwell

Warsaw resident Linda Lou Caldwell died Tuesday, March 27, at the Hospice Center of St. Elizabeth in Edgewood. She was 76 years old.

Mrs. Caldwell is survived by her husband, Earl Wayne Caldwell of Warsaw; three sons, Terry Riddle of Warsaw, Karl Gullion of Sparta, and Jackie Caldwell of Sparta; two step-sons, Jeff and Curtis Caldwell of Owen-ton; two step-daughters, Teresa Prather of Owenton and Janie Maxwell of Florida; 32 grandchildren and great-grandchildren. She was preceded in death by two brothers, Bobby K. Chapman and Jackie Chapman; and her parents, Robert E. "T-Bone" Chapman and Mary Velma Crouch Chapman.

Visitation will be held Thursday, March 29, from 4 to 8 p.m. at Garnett-New-McDonald Funeral Home in Warsaw. Rev. Denny French will conduct the funeral service on Friday, March 30, at 11 a.m. Burial will be at the Poplar Grove Cemetery.

Memorials are suggested to the St. Elizabeth Hospice, South Loop Drive, Edgewood, KY 41017.

Lige Johnson, Jr.

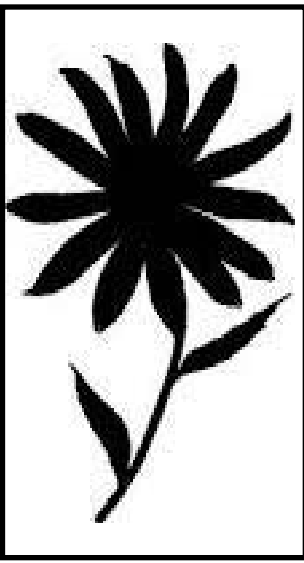

Ghent resident Lige Johnson, Jr. died Monday, March 26, at the Green Valley Health and Rehabilitation Center in Carrollton. He was 88 years old.

Mr. Lige was a veteran of the U.S. Army and a member of the Bramlett Baptist Church.

He is survived by his wife, Sue Edna Hughes Johnson; two sons, Charles and Larry Johnson; two half-brothers, Robert and Ernie Johnson; two grandchildren, one great-grandchild, and two step-grandchildren.

Visitation will be held Wednesday, March 28, from 4 to 8 p.m. at Garnett-New-McDonald Funeral Home in Warsaw. The funeral service will be held Thursday, March 29, at 11 a.m. Burial will be at the Oakland Cemetery in Gallatin County.

Cross Co. Homemakers plan ahead for Spring

The Cross County Homemakers met on March 14 at the extension office meeting room.

Fourteen members and one guest were present.

The devotional was given by Mary Jo Mylor.

President Mary Jane Day reported that the applications for the club scholarship had been delivered to the school. The selection committee will report at the May meeting.

The Mother's Day Tea will be held on May 12. This is a fund raiser for the county scholarship. A hat contest will be part of the event.

Six members with March birthdays were recognized.

The club will meet in April at the Warsaw Christian Church.

A potluck buffet followed the meeting. Sue Kemper was hostess.

Warsaw treats groundwater drawn from a network of wells drilled into the Ohio River alluvial aquifer. An analysis of the susceptibility of the water supply to contamination indicates that this susceptibility is generally moderate. There are, however, a few areas of concern in the immediate vicinity of our water wells. These include row crops, a sewage treatment plant, some permitted operations, and road exposure that cumulatively increase the potential for release of contaminants within the wellhead protection area. The summary of the water systems susceptibility to contamination is part of the completed Wellhead Protection Plan that is available for inspection during normal business hours at our office.

Drinking water, including bottled water, may reasonably be expected to contain at least small amounts of some contaminants. The presence of contaminants does not necessarily indicate that water poses a health risk. More information about contaminants and potential health effects may be obtained by calling the Environmental Protection Agency's Safe Drinking Water Hotline (800-426-4791).

The sources of drinking water (both tap water and bottled water) include rivers, lakes, streams, ponds, reservoirs, springs, and wells. As water travels over the surface of the land or through the ground, it dissolves naturally occurring minerals and, in some cases, radioactive material, and may pick up substances resulting from the presence of animals or from human activity. Contaminants that may be present in source water include: Microbial contaminants, such as viruses and bacteria, (sewage plants, septic systems, livestock operations, or wildlife). Inorganic contaminants, such as salts and metals, (naturally occurring or from stormwater runoff, wastewater discharges, oil and gas production, mining, or farming). Pesticides and herbicides, (stormwater runoff, agriculture or residential uses). Organic chemical contaminants, including synthetic and volatile organic chemicals, (by-products of industrial processes and petroleum production, or from gas stations, stormwater runoff, or septic systems). Radioactive contaminants, (naturally occurring or from oil and gas production or mining activities). In order to ensure that tap water is safe to drink, EPA prescribes regulations that limit the amount of certain contaminants in water provided by public water systems. FDA regulations establish limits for contaminants in bottled water to provide the same protection for public health.

Some people may be more vulnerable to contaminants in drinking water than the general population. Immuno-compromised persons such as persons with cancer undergoing chemotherapy, persons who have undergone organ transplants, people with HIV/AIDS or other immune system disorders, some elderly, and infants can be particularly at risk from infections. These people should seek advice about drinking water from their health care providers. EPA/CDC guidelines on appropriate means to lessen the risk of infection by Cryptosporidium and other microbial contaminants are available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline (800-426-4791).

Information About Lead:

If present, elevated levels of lead can cause serious health problems, especially for pregnant women and young children. Lead in drinking water is primarily from materials and components associated with service lines and home plumbing. Your local public water system is responsible for providing high quality drinking water, but cannot control the variety of materials used in plumbing components. When your water has been sitting for several hours, you can minimize the potential for lead exposure by flushing your tap for 30 seconds to 2 minutes before using water for drinking or cooking. If you are concerned about lead in your water, you may wish to have your water tested. Information on lead in drinking water, testing methods, and steps you can take to minimize exposure is available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline or at <http://www.epa.gov/safewater/lead>.

Some or all of these definitions may be found in this report:

Maximum Contaminant Level (MCL) - the highest level of a contaminant that is allowed in drinking water. MCLs are set as close to the MCLGs as feasible using the best available treatment technology.

Maximum Contaminant Level Goal (MCLG) - the level of a contaminant in drinking water below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MCLGs allow for a margin of safety.

Maximum Residual Disinfectant Level (MRDL) - the highest level of a disinfectant allowed in drinking water. There is convincing evidence that addition of a disinfectant is necessary for control of microbial contaminants.

Maximum Residual Disinfectant Level Goal (MRDLG) - the level of a drinking water disinfectant below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MRDLGs do not reflect the benefits of the use of disinfectants to control microbial contaminants.

Below Detection Levels (BDL) - laboratory analysis indicates that the contaminant is not present.

Not Applicable (N/A) - does not apply.

Parts per million (ppm) - or milligrams per liter, (mg/L). One part per million corresponds to one minute in two years or a single penny in $10,000.

Parts per billion (ppb) - or micrograms per liter, (µg/L). One part per billion corresponds to one minute in 2,000 years, or a single penny in $10,000,000.

Parts per trillion (ppt) - one part per trillion corresponds to one minute in 2,000,000 years, or a single penny in $10,000,000,000.

Parts per quadrillion (ppq) - one part per quadrillion corresponds to one minute in 2,000,000,000 years or one penny in $10,000,000,000,000.

Picocuries per liter (pCi/L) - a measure of the radioactivity in water.

Millirems per year (mrem/yr) - measure of radiation absorbed by the body.

Million Fibers per Liter (MFL) - a measure of the presence of asbestos fibers that are longer than 10 micrometers.

Nephelometric Turbidity Unit (NTU) - a measure of the clarity of water. Turbidity has no health effects. However, turbidity can provide a medium for microbial growth. Turbidity is monitored because it is a good indicator of the effectiveness of the filtration system.

Variances & Exemptions (V&E) - State or EPA permission not to meet an MCL or a treatment technique under certain conditions.

Action Level (AL) - the concentration of a contaminant which, if exceeded, triggers treatment or other requirements that a water system shall follow.

Treatment Technique (TT) - a required process intended to reduce the level of a contaminant in drinking water.

The data presented in this report are from the most recent testing done in accordance with administrative regulations in 401 KAR Chapter 8. As authorized and approved by EPA, the State has reduced monitoring requirements for certain contaminants to less often than once per year because the concentrations of these contaminants are not expected to vary significantly from year to year. Some of the data in this table, though representative, may be more than one year old. Unless otherwise noted, the report level is the highest level detected.

Regulated Contaminant Test Results

Recently you received a Public Notice concerning a fluoride sample result discovered at a lab. A recent audit, by the Kentucky Division of Water, of a lab that was sub-contracted by our contract lab revealed an analysis result of one fluoride sample, collected almost two years ago on May 24, 2010, exceeded the MCL. Records indicate that a replacement sample was submitted. Analysis results of the replacement sample and all samples submitted to the lab prior to and afterward were within acceptable levels. All routine daily fluoride tests conducted on-site by the water system personnel during that time-period were also within acceptable levels. An investigation of the situation has not revealed a reason for the high fluoride reading. However, since the original analysis was not invalidated using proper procedures the results are required to be accepted as a legitimate analysis. The analysis result of the original sample was 6.23 mg/L.

Some people who drink water containing fluoride in excess of the MCL over many years could get bone disease, including pain and tenderness of the bones. Fluoride in drinking water at half the MCL or greater may cause mottling of children's teeth, usually in children less than nine years old. Mottling, also known as dental fluorosis, may include brown staining and/or pitting of the permanent teeth. This problem occurs only in developing teeth, before they erupt from the gums.

The original analysis result was never reported to the water system or the Kentucky Division of Water and therefore a monitoring violation occurred. Water systems are responsible for making sure that all required tests are performed and that all analysis results are submitted to the Division of Water. We have discussed this situation with both labs and established procedures to prevent similar situations from occurring in the future.

THREE GENERATIONS...

For the Courtney family banking at First Farmers Bank makes for good business.

"They are nice and friendly people and easy to work with and when it's time to get down to business they jump right in. They've always come through for us."

Whether raising cattle and tobacco, growing a trucking business and just getting started; the Courtney family knows they have a friend in the banking business.
